*Hormone Support Px provides comprehensive herbal support during times of rapid hormonal changes such as the menopausal transition. The unique combination of herbal extracts contain extremely high levels of phytoestrogens, natural occurring plants substances that bind to estrogen receptor sites and promote estrogen-like activity. In addition, this formula has uterotonic properties and may help to maintain healthy prolactin and progesterone secretion.

The primary herb Pueraria root is extracted at a 100:1 ratio, meaning it took 100 kg of root to make 1 kg of extract. This strong concentration can help improve hormonal status and improve symptoms. Pueraria root constituents include Puerarin, Miroestrol, Daidzein, and Genistein all researched individually and collectively to promote hormonal balance and support optimal bone density. This formula also includes Betasitosterol is a common occurring natural plant sterol credited with hormonal balancing effects.

In addition to numerous hormonal balancing effects, this formula also offers calming support during emotional swings associated with times of hormonal fluctuations. The Lemon Balm in this formula offers nervous system support and acts in part, due to effects on maintaining dopamine in the brain. Dopamine is both mood enhancing and plays a significant role in the metabolism of pituitary hormones including prolactin. The Black Pepper in this formula dramatically improves the uptake and assimilation of the sterols and active constituents in the entire formula.

Caution: Note that some women may notice breast tenderness and a slight increase in breast size as an effect of taking this supplement.
